The Home of Things Electrical

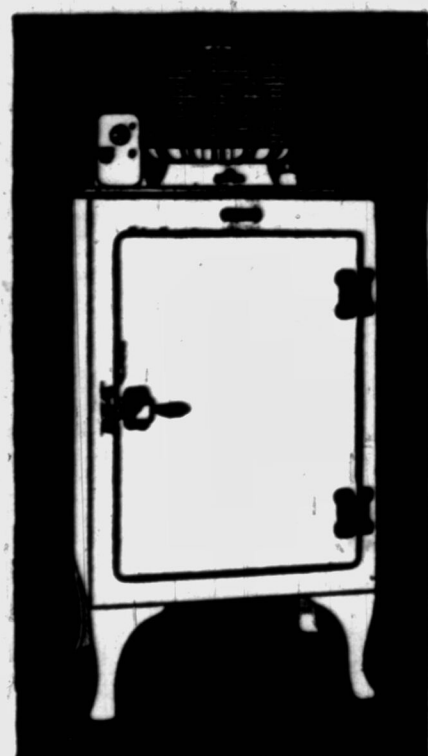

IT COSTS LESS TO OWN
A GENERAL ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR

A General Electric Refrigerator costs comparatively little to buy in the first place. And it costs surprisingly little to operate... only a few pennies a day. It uses less current than any other refrigerator because all of its mechanism is on top.

Another thing you'll like about it is that it soon pays for itself through savings in ice bills, and in foods ordinarily wasted.

In over three years, not one of the hundreds of thousands of owners has paid a single cent for service. The first cost has been their last cost.

Our conveniently spaced terms make it easy for you to own a General Electric Refrigerator. Come in and let us demonstrate its many superior advantages.

ARLINGTON GIRL ELECTED TO "A" SOCIETY AT ABBOT ACADEMY

Miss Marjorie Turner, who will graduate this month from Abbot Academy, was recently honored by election and admission to the "A" Society.

Membership in the "A" Society at Abbot is limited to students who have won at least two hundred athletic points, thereby earning an "Athletic A". These students must have a satisfactory attitude toward their work, and must show by good conduct and co-operation that they represent the high standards of Abbot Academy.

Miss Turner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett P. Turner of 244 Pleasant street. She formerly attended the Arlington Grammar and High School where she was an honor student and participated in many extra-curricular activities. She played on the hockey and basketball teams, and was on the board of the school paper.

Miss Turner is also an honor student at Abbot Academy. She is an active member of the hockey, riding, and baseball teams, and, because of her ability in written English, is a member on the board of "Courant", the school magazine.

Miss Turner's graduation from Abbot Academy marks the close of a remarkably interesting and colorful school career.

THREE MEN FROM ARLINGTON A-FISHING GO TO MAINE

On May 24th three well known sportsmen from Arlington arrived at Packard's Camps, which are situated on the exact geographical center of Maine. These camps were built up by, and have been under the management of, the Old Man Packard for thirty-five years, and, during that time, there have been sportsmen at the camps from all parts of the United States, and even from far off Japan. Yet, when these three gentlemen from Arlington, Benjamin A. Norton, Arthur A. Lawson, and Theodore F. Allen, arrived it caused quite a stir among the old time sportsmen who were at the camp, and started a heated argument among the guides as to who guided Mr. Norton the first time he was at the camps.

Scotty Cook, who has guided from Packard's Camps thirty years without a break, claimed the honor and, to substantiate his claim, dated it as the spring that he was carried over Greeley Falls on a cake of ice and was stranded in midstream on a barren rock. Henry Foster (better known as the Salmon Hound) took exception to Scotty's claim and said he guided Uncle Ben long before the World War, and it was the very spring that he tried to catch the moose which was swimming across the lake. The moose upset his canoe and he grabbed his fish rod in one hand, the moose's tail in the other and hung on until the moose reached shore, when he reeled in his line and found a nice three and one-half pound salmon on the hook.

Mr. Lawson sponsored the fishing trip to Packard's Camps this spring so that he might learn from "Uncle Ben" some of the finer points of the piscatorial art. Mr. Lawson has many times landed two and three pound salmon, and many times has hooked the big ones but would lose them.

After arriving at the camp, Uncle Ben coached Mr. Lawson in every way he could, but to no avail. He would lose the big ones every time they struck, so Uncle Ben took him out on the open lake and gave him a practical demonstration on hooking, playing and landing a seven pound land locked salmon which fought like a tiger for forty-five solid minutes.

The first morning at camp, while the party were at breakfast in the Mess Hall, the Old Man Packard wandered in and presented Mr. Norton with a lucky cent which was minted in the year 1847, the year of "Uncle Ben's" birth.

ONLY THREE G. A. R. MEMBERS ABLE TO ATTEND DINNER

Only three members of Post 36, G. A. R., of the very few who remain, were well enough to attend the exercises at the Grand Army Hall after the parade Memorial Day. A large group of men and women, representing the different organizations affiliated with Post 36, were the guests of the Women's Relief Corps, together with town officials and others. At 1.30, all sat down to a sumptuous dinner served by the N. J. Hardy Company in charge of a Women's Relief Corps committee, chairmanned by Mrs. Carolyn Morse.

After the dinner Commander Averill presided with marked dignity, introducing as the first speaker, Captain Lathrop, who is in his ninety-fourth year, and a member of Post 36. The commander said that Post Commander Alfred H. Knowles was unable to attend on account of sickness, but he assured his audience that it was not serious.

Arthur P. Wyman, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, was next introduced. He referred to Captain Lathrop as the recipient of the Boston Post Case which the selectmen had presented. Mr. Wyman stated that the board was always glad to accept to all requests of the Grand Army and he added his tribute to the veterans of the Civil War.

Selectman Hollis M. Gott was the next speaker. He spoke particularly of the absence of Comrade Knowles, proposing a toast, to which all responded. John A. Easton, as clerk of the board, was referred to by Commander Averill as the man "who cuts a hole in the ice in the winter months for his swim". Mr. Easton's remarks were patriotic thoughts, finely expressed. Harold L. Frost was introduced as the son of a deceased comrade, a charter member of the post, Sylvester Frost. He stated that he hoped that the thinning ranks of veterans might remain intact for many years as a Memorial Day would not be a real Memorial Day without the Grand Army of the Republic.

Franklin P. Hawkes, principal of Junior High School West, was introduced as one of the best friends of Post 36, and he presented a glowing tribute to the service of the veterans. The commander of the Legion, Clement J. Beaudet, was next presented and he was followed by Rufus Blake, John Hendrick, Chief Urquhart, Grace Parker, the president of the Women's Relief Corps, Mrs. Josephine Payne Williams, Miss Hattie Jones, president of the Women's Auxiliary, Mrs. Mary Smith, president Fannie T. Hazen Tent 67, and E. C. Sargent, commander of the Sons of Veterans. The latter stated that the Veterans had placed a geranium at every grave of the Civil War veterans.

Finally, Commander Averill called on Comrade Clark who spoke of his love of the name "Grand Army of the Republic", and how the veterans still enjoyed the opportunity of speaking in the schools each year. Their work was a cheerful service carried on by the aid of all assisting organizations. He paid high tribute to the organizations, including the Women's Relief Corps and the Sons of Veterans. Previous to the dinner, the band gave a concert on the green in front of the hall.

PARK PLAYERS PRESENT "ACE HIGH" FRIDAY

The large following of the Park Players, local dramatic group, are eagerly waiting for their last performance of the season next Friday evening at the Park Avenue Parish House.

"Ace High", the vehicle which the Park Players have chosen for their farewell appearance of the season, is a three-act mystery comedy, dealing with people of the underworld who find themselves thrust into the strange surroundings of a home, the owners of which are seeking to establish themselves in the higher realms of society life. The unusual feature of the play is the fact that nearly every part in the play requires the actor to portray a double character.

Many new faces will be seen next Friday evening by those who are fortunate enough to procure seats for "Ace High" including Pauline Bennett, who is portraying the feminine lead and promises to be a find, if her work at the rehearsals is any criterion of her ability. Bernice Hayes, another newcomer, plays a very difficult part for one with so little experience on the stage but has lived up to all the hopes of the director. Others who will be seen for the first time are Muriel Livingston, Charles Folsom, and Forrest Besanson. The latter, as stage manager, has just finished new scenery for the play which assures the performance a beautiful background.

The remainder of the cast is made up of members of the Park Players who have been appearing regularly in the productions of the club since its inception and who have improved so greatly that they have acquired quite a following who have watched them develop from inexperienced aspirants to finished performers. Randall Snow, who has played in a large number of shows in Arlington, will portray the leading male part. John Gruber, as a hen-pecked husband, gives promise of surpassing any of his previous successes. Betty Pierce is expected to shine in a difficult part. Janet Folsom and Edwin Collier are the other old favorites who are taking prominent parts in the show. William O. Partridge, noted local dramatic expert, is directing the group.

ONE HAD INNING BRINGS
4-2 DEFEAT BY WATERTOWN

The A. H. S. baseball team was defeated 4 to 2 at Watertown Saturday afternoon. One had inning pitched by the second time this year. Lane pitched superb ball in all except the fifth, when he suddenly lost his perfect control and with the aid of an error, the four Watertown runs were scored on him.

Capt. Ross Lo Presti celebrated his return to the Arlington line-up by making two fine hits, one of these a long home run over the right field fence. This was Arlington's first run, and it looked big until the rally in the fifth by Watertown. With one out, Peiky started the new work with a fine single and Cook followed suit. Lawson scored second and Cook, third, while Barrett was throwing out Peiky at the plate. Both scored on an error and two passes mixed up with a hit produced two more runs.

Arlington scored her last run on successive singles by Barrett, Lane, and Hederman.

SEASON CLOSING WITH 7-6
DEFEAT FOR BASEBALL NINE

The Arlington High School baseball team closed its season Wednesday afternoon with a 7 to 6 defeat at the hands of Woburn at Woburn. Lane pitched very good ball, allowing only 7 hits, but he received poor support. He also connected with 3 fine hits. Hagerty was hit hard but Weaver stepped in to help him out of a bad hole. Ross Lo Presti had a peculiar day at bat, receiving 3 passes. He also made a sacrifice hit; so he was officially credited with no times at bat.

Two hits combined with a stolen base and an error gave Woburn a three-run start, and two more hits gave her her fourth run in the second. When Lo Presti walked, stole and scored on Doyle's hit, Arlington scored another in the fourth when Lo Presti walked and the catcher threw into center field. Lo Presti scored all the way from first.

Woburn added three more in the fifth on three hits and an error. Arlington also scored two runs in the fifth on Dolan's walk and successive singles by Barrett, Lane, and Gallucci, and Dornington's sacrifice hit. Weaver was called upon to end this rally.

Arlington made its last run in the ninth.

HAWKS WIN CLASS
TEAM BASEBALL RACE

The class team league season closed last week with an epic battle between the two leaders, the Giants and the Hawks. The latter team won, 6 to 4. Previously each team had won five and lost one, so that the final game created considerable interest. There is now some talk of the Hawks challenging the high school varsity baseball team.

The Hawks made the first inning a batting rally in which they scored five runs. Forest, Shean, and Greco all hit and these with three errors and a base on balls accounted for the quintet of runs. Bob Forest was at bat twice in this inning and got a double the first time.

In the third the Giants hit their stride and found Shean for three hits and three runs. Holoway, Kelley and Traynor, being responsible for the hits. But in the sixth the Hawks increased their total to 6 with a pair of bases on balls and a hit by Greco.

The Giants were not discouraged for they immediately retaliated in the seventh with a run by virtue of hits by Collier and Kelley. They almost pulled the game off the ice in the ninth when two men hit with two down, but all Kelley could do was to roll one to Shean for the third out.

The Hawks:—Forest, cf; Shean, p; Greco, cf; Dahill, 3b; Oulton, 1b; Sears, 2b; Glunson, ss; Barr, rf; Vogel, cf; Hart, 1b.

The Giants:—Holoway, 2b; Colucci, p; Kelley, cf; Traynor, 1b; Hill, ss; Igo, 1b; Whitaker, 3b; Sarkisian, 1b; Bullock, rf.

WINCHESTER C. C. GOLF
TEAMS CRAWL UP 1/4 POINT

The Winchester Country Club golf teams came through on their own course in fine style in the four-ball league matches Tuesday afternoon—that in spite of the fact that five members of the teams were unable to compete because of other business. Their absences did not seem to weaken the teams, however, for the first team beat Weston, 9 1/2 to 2 1/2, and the second team came through with a similar score.

The first team gained a half point on Brue Burn, the team standing at the head of the league, and the second team crawled up a similar amount on Charles River. Both the local teams are still in second place in the league.

The summary:

First Team
Winchester—Chase-Nazro, 3; Jackson-Hendrick, 2 1/2; Goodale-Barton, 1; Corwin-Hicks, 3. Total, 9 1/2.

Second Team
Winchester—Walker-Cennors, 3; P. Goodale-Fisher, 2; Wood-Adams, 2; Newman-B. Goodale, 2 1/2. Total, 9 1/2.

Weston—Manning-Wolford, 0; Porter-Adams, 1; Grant-Summer, Jr., 1; Campbell-Summer, Sr., 1/2. Total, 2 1/2.

BOYS' TENNIS TEAM
HAVING SUCCESSFUL SEASON

The boys' tennis team of the Arlington High School has had a very successful season thus far, losing only to one school, English High of Boston. The summary tabulated below carries the results only to May 26. Four matches have been played since then, but all four were either cancelled or called on account of rain.

The results thus far: English, 4, A. 1; Woburn, 1, O. 7; Watertown, 1, A. 4; English, 4, A. 1; Mechanic Arts, 1, A. 4; Brookline, 3, A. 4.

GIRLS' TENNIS TEAM
DEFEATS CONCORD, 4-1

Arlington beat Concord Monday, 4 to 1, at the Arlington course. The local girls were not quite up to their usual standard, but that probably was because it has rained so much that they have not had time to practice. The summary:

Dorothy Park (A), defeated Betty Rudd, 6-4, 6-2; Barbara Carr (A), defeated Dorothy Peterson, 6-2, 6-2; Betty Hendrick (A), defeated Dolly Cooke, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3; Elizabeth Eames and Marjorie Lowcock (A), defeated Ellen Diken and Ruth MacWilliams, 5-7, 6-3, 7-5; Betty Rudd and Teddy Doddgett (C) defeated Grace Daring and Mary Powers, 6-1, 8-6.

GIRLS' TENNIS TEAM
WINS IN SPITE OF HEAT

Wednesday at the Winthrop High School, Arlington beat Winthrop, 5-0. It was extremely hot but the girls stood up well in spite of the heat.

Dorothy Parks (A), defeated Francis Crowley, 6-1, 6-0; Barbara Carr (A), defeated M. Cowley, 6-1, 6-2; Betty Hendrick (A), defeated Frances Mover, 7-5, 6-2; Elizabeth Eames and Marjorie Lowcock (A), defeated Helen Fitzgerald and D. Turner, 6-1, 6-2; Margaret Hart and Mary Powers (A), defeated Marjorie Nelson and Marion Macdonald, 6-2, 4-0.

High School Notes

The Memorial Day assembly, held last Thursday, was unusually interesting. The school was honored with the presence of General Lombard, a veteran of the Spanish-American War, and Rev. John N. Mark of the American Legion. Theodore Rimbach acted as chairman, and introduced the winners of the Essay Contest held recently by the American Legion: First, Mary Chambers, '30; second, Dorothy Markle, '30; third, Phyllis McCabe, '30; and fourth, Dorothy Webster, '30. Miss McCabe's effort, a delightful poem written by herself, was loudly acclaimed by the audience. The prizes were presented to the winners by Mr. Mark, who made a fine speech. During the program songs were sung by the audience.

A Teachers' Luncheon was held Tuesday afternoon in the High School in honor of Miss Grogan of the History Department, and Miss Walker of the Latin Department, who are to be married shortly after school closes, and of Miss Cheney of the Commercial Department, and Miss Conway of the History Department, who have completed twenty-five years of teaching in Arlington High School. Miss Preston of the Latin Department, Miss Porter and Miss Krastin of the English Department wrote delightful verses for everybody. Mr. Gammons presented gifts of pewter to the brides-to-be and gifts of gold to Miss Cheney and Miss Conway. The delicious luncheon was under the direction of Miss Pennell of the Household Arts Department.

Final examinations start next Tuesday and last through the following Monday. Graduation takes place the next Wednesday, and school closes for the summer Friday, June 20.

Coach Charles Downes of the baseball team, has been seriously ill at his home, but is now on the road to recovery. He is expected to return to school next week.

Why Not Investigate?

THE referendum, set for June 19th, leaves to the voters of Arlington the decision as to whether $389,194 shall be appropriated to build a new high school unit, called "Scheme C" in the committee report. The special town meeting voted unanimously to appropriate that sum but at least one hundred citizens—the number whose signature is necessary for a referendum—believe this vote was a mistake, and have said so.

That all of the citizens of the town should have an opportunity to express their opinions is just. It is their money that will pay for the building. It is their children that will be educated within it.

At the special town meeting they left the decision to the men they had chosen to represent them. If they overturn the town meeting vote they should have very good reason for doing so.

The town meeting members, it may be assumed, had given the matter some thought. The three sets of plans submitted by the High School Building Committee had been mailed to them in time so that they could give them careful study before they were called upon to vote.

That these plans were the result of detailed examination of the needs of the school is unquestionable. After this study, "Scheme C, Arlington High School Separate Building", was recommended.

The Finance Committee, who have the deserved reputation of being both economical and careful students of all questions to be submitted to the town meeting members and of recommending the appropriation of money only for purposes that seem to them vitally important, approved these plans and the appropriation of money to carry them out.

The School Committee which is in constant touch with all sides of the schools of the town, gave its unanimous approval to "Scheme C".

Moreover, all of these bodies are made up of men, most of whom are property owners in the town and whose pocket-books would, therefore, be directly affected by the raised tax resulting from the appropriation. Evidently they think the plans good enough so that they are willing to spend their money on them.

Of course they may have been wrong. The hundred signatures of the referendum think so and, accordingly, are asking an expression of opinion from their fellow citizens. However, before these citizens vote they should learn all that they can about the question they are to decide.

A visit to the High School that is now educating a thousand pupils in quarters designed for seven hundred and fifty will give some first hand information. Not many years ago they would have found study halls, classrooms, lunch rooms, gymnasium and auditorium with ample room to carry on the activities of the school efficiently and comfortably.

Today they will find the study halls divided into classrooms, the auditorium made over into a study hall, the offices of superintendent and supervisors moved out to make room for more class rooms, every nook and cranny of the building filled to overflowing. At the lunch hour they will find the dark lunch room overcrowded. If they visit the gymnasium during a game they will find that though there is room on the floor for the game, there is not room for the spectators, who are more than willing to pay admission to the floor—admissions that help pay the expenses of the games.

Graduation exercises come the night before the referendum. If these are held in the school auditorium, as they have been in previous years—of course this is the proper place for such exercises—each member of the graduating class will be allowed invitations only for his immediate family. There will be no place for friends. And at that the room will be filled to suffocation.

Comparison of this building with high school buildings in neighboring towns, or even with Junior High East in Arlington, will prove further enlightening. The commodious rooms with plenty of light and air—the convenient and ample lunch rooms, the double gymnasiums, where boys' and girls' classes may meet on either side of the dividing doors or curtain, the auditoriums where the whole school can gather—these will both provide a contrast with the present school and show what a new school may mean to Arlington.

Questioning school authorities—superintendent, principal, committeemen—is still another means of obtaining information. They will tell not only of the difficulties of teaching in crowded classrooms and study halls, but of the need of an auditorium where the whole school may gather and get acquainted with their principal and with each other; get acquainted, indeed, with their school. They will point out the fact that the gymnasium is now so inadequate that the senior class members who do not take part in athletics are forced to forego its advantages.

In spite of these handicaps, the Arlington High School has, to use a factory term, been turning out an excellent product. Its graduates not only enter colleges and training schools of various kinds but succeed in these advanced schools. Indeed, many of them become prominent both in their studies and in athletics.

Whether this high standard can be maintained will depend on Arlington voters. In June, one class will go out; next September three will enter. The same thing will happen the following June and September—and so on. Arlington's population is increasing and the incoming classes will, accordingly be proportionately larger each year than the outgoing.

The only relief, when it is impossible to squeeze more pupils into the building—and that point is practically reached now—seems to be the two platoon system. Somebody's children will have to go to school from two until half past five or so in the afternoon.

This is hard for pupils and hard for teachers. It means cutting short class periods, and teaching and studying at the time of the day when teaching and studying is most difficult. It may well mean that the school will lose its best teachers—such teachers never find it hard to get other and better positions.

These are only a few of the facts that a personal investigation will show to Arlington voters. There is time for such an investigation before the referendum, time, too, to question the Finance Committee as to why they favored the appropriation.

An intelligent vote will mean that the necessary two-thirds will favor the appropriation to build the new unit.

Here and There

Arlington has been running hand in hand with Winchester on the school question. At Winchester the new junior high school project went through the representative town meeting, was put to the vote of the people by referendum, and the people failed to sustain the vote of their representatives. Of course, as in Arlington's case, a two thirds vote was necessary to put the thing through because of the fact that the town was borrowing money by issuing bonds, and two thirds is hard to get.

But that is not the whole story. The petitioners for referendum in Arlington said in their message to the Selectmen that in the event that the vote of the people failed to sustain the action of the Town Meeting and the recommendation of the Finance Committee, another special town meeting should be called to see if the town would provide additional high school accommodations. It would seem from the vote of the town meeting on May 26 that the town would like to have more high school accommodations, but maybe not.

The same thing occurred in Winchester. That is, the matter went back to a special town meeting after being rejected by referendum. And the representative town meeting passed the identical project a second time. And yesterday the town fathers received another petition for a second referendum. And now the voters as a whole will probably vote as before. And then there will be another town meeting. And so forth. And so forth ad infinitum. And there you have it.

It does look as though Winchester were going to defeat Arlington in another major sport. Neither town has had much experience in referendums, but both have picked up the game with enthusiasm, especially Winchester. Winchester will have completed two laps of the race, two referendums, before Arlington will have had one. Winchester has already indulged and will have another on June 16, while Arlington has put off her extravaganza until the 19th.

But in Winchester things are worse than they are here. In her case there are two points, which are bones of contention. There is the expense, of course, but the location seems to cause most of the trouble. Strangely enough, it is reported that one man who never paid a cent of taxes with the exception of his poll tax in his life, is causing all the trouble. Before things are over over there, Winchester will have spent enough for referendums and special town meetings to pay for two school buildings. At least, that is the complexion of the matter now.

In Arlington it is different. It is difficult to discover, for no one seems to know, what the opponents of the present plan for a new high school hope to accomplish, but it is assumed that the expense is considered too great. However, it is beyond question that the town does need additional high school accommodations. The building committee and the architect affirm that the separate building plan is the cheapest that can be devised to provide the necessary space and equipment without building merely for the present. Accordingly, the people will probably sustain their representatives and the Finance Committee by cutting the matter short with an eloquent vote of approval.

That fragment of the great American people which is found on the voting list of the town will undoubtedly avail itself of the heritage for which its ancestors fought and died and vote for a school house in which to educate our children properly according to modern standards. Arlington folks will see the wisdom of cutting the matter short and not following the folly of Winchester in spending all the alleged savings on referendums and special town meetings.

The strange part of the whole thing is that it is impossible to find out what the objectors and subsequent petitioners are after. Not one seems to have a constructive substitute to offer. This may be slander, of course, but it would almost appear that the opposition is just so that its exponents were caught flat footed. They are like the batter who stands at the plate, lets the pitcher sneak a fast one over the center of the pan for a called third strike and then runs around and strikes the umpire a smart blow in the jaw. Said batter should be put out of the game, and that is up to the Arlington voters.

These insurgents sincerely believe that something was put over on them. But this is what really happened. The matter was fairly well aired last week in this column, but in view of new developments, it might be well to reiterate. The school question was included under three separate articles of the warrant. The first two had not been recommended by the Finance Committee, and the third one had; so the initial articles passed under the gavel with lightning speed. Moderator Waterman reached the third article on the run and kept right on going. He read the recommendation of the Finance Committee, paused for two full seconds and then put the question.

Of course, everyone knows what happened then. The ayes were gently soft in their response to "all those in favor", but the nays were as still as standing water and just as weak.

As long as anyone can remember, the building committee has always explained its project on any proposed school building. The opposition has always waited until the chairman had talked himself hoarse—shot his bolt—and then surged to the attack. In this case the report had been made in writing with plans to each town meeting member; so no verbal explanation was thought necessary. That is the reason the opposition was back on its heels when the knockout blow was struck. Now a foul is claimed and the matter referred to the judges—the people of Arlington. May the judges make their decision swift and just, for it costs $1200 a decision.

SOPHISTICATED ONLOOKER.

Fifty Years Ago This Week

The extension of the filter at the Arlington Water Works is nearly completed. If no accident occurs to prevent, it will be finished this week. Under ordinary circumstances this would be sufficient to supply all the water required for domestic and other purposes, but until some check is put upon the reckless and useless waste by a certain class of water takers, there will probably remain good grounds for loud complaints from those dependent upon it for domestic purposes.

New Road.—Next Wednesday the County Commissioners will have a hearing on the proposed changes in the road between Arlington and Winchester as asked for by J. H. Hutchinson and others. Mr. Hutchinson has followed this matter with great perseverance, and is very sanguine that the Commissioners will order the proposed changes in the road. The extremely dangerous nature of the railroad crossing is fully shown by the fatal accidents which have occurred, and no one will question that this portion, at least, should receive attention.

A Spell of Weather.—From the 29th of May to the 10th of June the wind in this section blew steadily from the east, bringing clouds which constantly obscured the sun, and most of the time there was a drizzling rain interspersed with a few heavy showers. Of course it has been far from agreeable, but the grass was very much benefited and a full hay crop is now assured. After such "a spell of weather" we hope for clear skies and bright sunshine for the balance of the always beautiful "month of roses."

IN 1905

Twenty-five Years Ago This Week

The engagement of Mr. Warren A. Peirce to Miss Ruth Cook of Roxbury has been announced. This event and Mr. Peirce's birthday were celebrated with a happy family party at his residence on Academy street Tuesday evening.

An anonymous letter, signed "East Arlington Citizen", we cannot print, as it is not signed by a responsible party. It is necessary that the editor shall know who contributes all items. Not having the address of the writer, we have turned it over to Chief Urquhart.

Mr. Frank Bott entertained a house party over the week-end of Memorial Day at the family's summer home at Norwood Heights, Annisquam. The party has for several seasons been entertained at this time and includes the families of the Rolfs, Churchills and Coolidges, who make up an unusually congenial circle of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Schwamb, who have been spending the winter in Denver, Colorado, are expected back to their home at the Heights early in July, where they will remain through the summer. Miss Edith Schwamb, who has also been at Denver, has a most excellent position there and will not return here for the present.

The spacious mansion on the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Moses J. Colman at 144 Pleasant street, Arlington, is ideal for any event, but that which was celebrated there on Wednesday made it doubly inviting when adorned with flowers and thronged with a brilliant company invited to a reception in honor of the marriage of their elder daughter, Margaret Howe, and Mr. Charles Curtis Beebe. The ceremony was performed at 7.30 o'clock by the Rev. James Yeames of the Episcopal church.

Correspondence

Arlington, Mass.
June 3, 1930.

Arlington Advocate,
Arlington, Mass.

Dear Editor:

Not being a town meeting member, I have not felt it necessary to attend the meetings, but on May 26th I was there to listen to the discussion of the High School addition, but not one word except "Yes" did I hear.

However, I did hear considerable justifiable language on the changing of street names, and it makes one wonder why the residents and owners were not consulted and their co-operation obtained before bringing the matter to the Town Meeting.

While the reason given for wanting the changes in street names was the confusion over similarity of names, I could not help but note that not one word was uttered in opposition when without any article in the warrant, and no legal justification for it, the matter of naming the High School Playground was brought up and two playgrounds given the same name. Had the gentleman whose name now is given to two playgrounds had anything to do with selecting the "site", one could have let it pass without comment, but if my memory is correct, he opposed the site—or at least was not identified with its selection for the High School—and it would therefore have been a graceful gesture on his part had he declined and suggested the name of our late citizen, Timothy Donohue, who was the first man to work for the High School Site.

It is not too late to correct the mistake and give honor where it belongs.

Yours very truly,

ARTHUR BIRCH.

OLD HOME DAY CELEBRATED
BY DANCES AND MEET

Blake served delicious refreshments. The whole affair was under the supervision of Charles A. Hardy, chairman of the Tercentenary Committee.

The junior high school track meet was close to an extreme. Junior High Center did not figure very importantly in the final score, but the lead saw-sawed back and forth between the East and the West and was not decided until the final relay. When all the points had been compiled, the three schools stood as follows: West, 80 1/2 points; East, 78 1/2 points; Center, 43 points.

The Track Meet

The boys' events were under the supervision of Earl H. Thompson, director of athletics in the Arlington schools. The girls' events were under the direction of Katherine E. McCarthy, director-elect of girls' athletics.

The officials of the meet were as follows: starter, William T. McCarthy; referee, Earl H. Thompson; clerk of course, Joseph Berens; clerk of field, William Lowder; track judges, James Smith, Leon Yarker, Walter Sullivan, Ernest W. Gustavson; field judges, Roger S. Houston, Robert Thompson, Alfred J. Cobb; timers, John O. Matthews, Franklin P. Hawkes, William D. Power.

The seventh grade relay team of the Junior High East won, with Junior High Center, second, and Junior High West, third, putting Junior High East out ahead. When the eighth graders went into their race the West won out, with the East second, and Center, third. The final race of the relay, that for the 10th graders, was the real race of the afternoon, with the two rival schools out for the meet. Honors went to the West who finished first, East, second, and Center, third.

The events were as follows:—

Seventh Grade

Running High Jump—Won by Nate, Center; Taylor, Center and Donnelly, East, tied for second place; McDermott, West, Tibbets, West, and Gaster, Center, tied for fourth. Height, 4 ft., 6 in.

250-Yard Dash—Won by Reagan, East; Donnelly, East, second; Taddeo, East, third; Makofsky, West, fourth.

Folk Dancing

Over three hundred girls took part in the folk dancing demonstration, and they presented a very lovely picture. In fact, the whole scene was very pleasing to the eye, the girls moving as one person, the band in its colorful uniforms and the lavish decorations of the Mid-dex Sportsman's Association.

The folk dances covered those of many foreign countries as well as our own. The junior high girls danced a French minuet, a Hungarian Rika, a Highland Schottische and an English May pole dance. The senior high girls presented an Italian tarantella, an Irish lilt and an American flag dance. Nearly 150 girls took part in the May pole dance, the star number on the program.

After the dancing there was a demonstration of the various games which the girls play in the schools. Instead of competition between teams representing each of the three junior high schools, girls were chosen so that each school was represented on each team. The games used were bat ball, volleyball and captain ball.

VETERANS GUESTS AT JUNIOR HIGH WEST EXERCISES

Commander George H. Averill and Past Commander Henry Clark of Post 34, G. A. R., together with Mr. Adams and Frank Zeick, representatives of the Spanish War Veterans, Commander Beaudet, Past Commander Fallon and two other representatives of the Arlington Post of the Legion, Mrs. Josephine P. Williamson and two other members of the Relief Corps, were special guests at the Memorial Day Assembly of Junior High School West which was held last week Thursday morning.

The programs were of red, white and blue, the outer cover ornamented with a wreath surmounted by a cross. Miss Connor was in charge of the program. Following the usual opening exercises, there was an especially effective flag drill by the seventh grade girls, who had been trained by Miss Emerson. Then the orchestra played a medley of old time favorites.

A three-act play, "White Asters", was given by a group of the pupils who had been coached by Miss Fitzpatrick. The part of Arlette Charles was taken by Phyllis Roberts; Roger Murray, Wilfred Kenney; Constance Murray, Dorothy Brooks; Colonel Jim, Harvey Robinson; Reid Douglas, William Errington; Helen Elliott, Florence Paccetti; Captain John, Robert Moore; Soldier, James Piesch. Between the first and second acts, Edward Tate sang, "Memories of France", and between the second and third, "A Long, Long Trail". At the close of the play, Edward Fitch recited "The Star of Gold". A gold star had been placed on the flag as a reminder of the Gold Star mothers.

Principal Franklin P. Hawkes then made special awards in a contest which had been announced Armistice Day for stories and poems on the topic of Armistice Day. He named Eva MacDonald of Grade Nine as winner of the first prize for the stories, and Errol Young, Grade Seven, first prize for the poems. Athletic awards were given to the athletic instructor for distribution later.

The veterans marched on to the stage through an escort of Boy and Girl Scouts whose ranks extended from the stage to the first landing. Commander Averill spoke briefly, telling how glad he was to be there. Past Commander Clark spoke of the spirit of Memorial Day and said that he knew Junior High West pupils would always be loyal and patriotic as that was the spirit of the school. Mr. Adams explained that the Spanish War veterans wear the blue of the Union with the gray of the Confederacy to show that when they fought the two were united. Commander Beaudet spoke briefly of the convention in October, when it is hoped that many will be present. As the veterans left the platform, they were cheered enthusiastically by the children.

avenue and marched down to Mt. Pleasant Cemetery, where appropriate services were read, the prayers said and the volley fired over the graves of those that died in the war of the rebellion.

The marching column consisted of a squad of police, Chief Marshal Harold A. Publicover, Past Commander Post 39, A. L. Chief Marshal's staff: Arlington Post 39, bugle and drum corps; Arlington Post 39, The American Legion, Clement J. Beaudet, Commander; Arlington Post 1775, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Sylvester Keeney, Commander; Arlington Military Band, William Fish, leader; Camp 45, Sons of Union Veterans, Edward C. Sargent, Commander; Francis Gould Post, 36, G. A. R., in automobiles, George H. Averill, Commander; Girl Scouts of America and Boy Scouts of America.

After the service at Mt. Pleasant Cemetery, the column marched up Medford street to the Soldiers' Monument in the park before the Central Fire Station. Here services were read by members of the various organizations and wreaths were placed on the monument. The band played several hymns.

Only three of the local Grand Army men were able to attend. Commander Averill and Past Commander Clark were the only ones to take an active part in the exercises. Captain Lathrop, who is in his ninety fourth year, did not get out of the machine, and Past Commander Alfred H. Knowles was confined to his home because of illness.

OLD FASHIONED CONCERT
ENTERTAINS ROTARIANS

The local Rotary Club and the Rotary-Anns were entertained Wednesday by a partial repetition of the old folks program which was presented before the Arlington Historical Society some time ago, and again it was greatly appreciated. Mrs. Harold B. Wood was in charge of the entertainment and played the piano for the musical numbers.

Prominent on the program were the readings of Lena Winifred Lenk, who was accompanied at the piano by her sister, Alice Grace Lenk, in her usual mastery and sympathetic fashion. The Misses Lenk were greeted with such wholehearted applause by the audience that they were forced to give several encores. Miss Lena demonstrated versatility and great depth of feeling in her work.

Phyllis Blake sang two old fashioned songs. She was in excellent voice as usual, and the audience obviously was delighted with her singing. She also had the solo part in a chorus number. Leonard and Parker Wood played one violin and flute duet and accompanied one of the songs of the chorus. The former also added for the Virginia Reel which closed the program.

Brad Swift created a sensation with his costume and dancing in the Virginia reel. Charles H. Stevens and David Buttrick were also drafted for the dance.

The members of the chorus were Mrs. Robert Ladd, Mrs. Gordon Benway, Mrs. Ezekiel Pratt, Mrs. Marcus Sorensen, Mrs. Nils Alsen, Mrs. Sidney Sandberger and Phyllis Blake. All the members of the cast were dressed in old fashioned costumes. Real antiques were used as furniture. Mrs. D. T. Percy loaned the major part of the furniture, Mrs. Ezekiel Pratt and Mrs. Robert Ladd loaned the Paisley shawls, and dresses were loaned by Mrs. Norval F. Bacon and Mrs. George Winn.

power to destroy the remains of the old ice house on Lake street this week. The building is in the process of being demolished, anyway, and last fall a big fire almost completed the job. Some parts were left standing, however. Last Sunday in the big wind, the major part went down with a crash, fortunately hurting no one. Yesterday morning a blaze started in the ruins. The alarm was rung in from box 18 at 12.52 a. m. and when the Fire Department arrived, it found a raging furnace. The men soon had the blaze under control, however.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS GIVE PLAY BEFORE TUFTS CLASS

Thursday, May 29, four girls of the A. H. S. Dramatic Club presented a one-act play, "And So To Bed", for the Play Production Class at Tufts College of which Robert Sproul is chairman. The play was written by Clarence Young, a student at Middlebury College. The work of the young ladies was given higher credit than another piece of work put on by a college group at the same time by the class who, as a part of their course, have the plays presented for criticism of play construction and coaching. The play was coached by Mr. Sproul in only two weeks, but the cast was a fine one. The acclaim received for their work compensated for the work. Those taking part were Marjorie McCann, Ruth Bullock, Lillian Rice and Barbara Llewellyn.

TROOP ONE, BOY SCOUTS
HOLD TREASURE HUNT

Last Monday evening, Troop 1, Boy Scouts of the First Universalist church enjoyed a treasure hunt which was supervised by Scoutmaster Robert Sproul. There were four patrols, Stag, Tiger, Blazing Arrow and Silver Fox. The patrols separated and each went to some municipal office, such as the fire station, police station, etc. There they learned an outline of the work of this department and received orders to go to certain citizens' homes, among them those of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Horter, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. MacCann and Rev. and Mrs. R. R. Hadley. From these homes sailing orders were given to another destination. When the patrols arrived at the entrance to Menotomy Rocks Park, the signal for the hunt was given. When the treasure was found it proved to be a check for three dollars for the patrol fund. Stag patrol was the finder.

News of the Women's Clubs

Mrs. Franklin P. Hawkes, president of the Arlington Woman's club, with Mrs. Harold P. O'Shea of Appleton street, went to the Immigration headquarters in East Boston one day last week to present to Mrs. Anna C. Tillinghast, who is U. S. Commissioner of Immigration for New England, a picture that has been given by the woman's club, to be hung in the Commissioner's office. Its title is, "The signing of the Declaration of Independence". Mrs. O'Shea made the presentation, which was in appreciation of Mrs. Tillinghast's talk to the club last February.

Mrs. Hawkes was the recipient of a handsome black crepe kimono, beautifully embroidered, given her by the members of the board at the meeting of the program committee held Tuesday of last week. Other gifts of a useful nature were presented to Mrs. Hawkes by board members to be used on her trip to Denver, Colorado, where she will represent the club at the annual Biennial. Mrs. Hawkes left Boston Monday with a great send-off, for just as the automobile in which she was riding, in company with Mr. Hawkes, Mrs. Howard Bradford, chairman of the Prudential committee, and Girl Scouts from the troop of which Mrs. Hawkes is the leader, approached the corner of Charles and Beacon streets, the band with the Ancient and Honorable parade struck up a tune that seemed especially appropriate to Mrs. Hawkes and her mission.

Y., and Dorothy Francis Ward, 10 Orchard terrace.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. White, with Paul, Jr., left on Thursday, the 29th, for their summer home on Cape Cod. Mr. White will return to town but Mrs. White and Paul, Jr., will remain until college opens in September.

The presence and the splendid speech of Senator David I. Walsh at the flag raising exercises of St. Agnes Parochial School, held on the school lawn Sunday afternoon, were largely responsible for the decided success of the function. General Edward Logan also played a major part.

Crowds began to gather long before the appointed hour, which was two o'clock, and by the time that General Logan, the first speaker, had arrived, those who had not come early were not able to stand close enough to hear much of what was said.

Rev. Matthew J. Flaherty of St. Agnes church opened the exercises by introducing Selectman Arthur P. Wyman, who was to preside. Mr. Wyman immediately called upon Father Flaherty to offer the prayer. The chairman did not make any extended address but confined his remarks to saying that Sunday was the first day of Old Home Week and announcing coming events. He then introduced General Logan, listing his many civil and military honors, including his recent appointment by Mayor Curley to the chairmanship of the White Fund.

The general said, and Senator Walsh later made the same remark in private, that one could not give Father Flaherty "no" for an answer. Both he and the Senator were very busy on that day, but Father Flaherty's wish was a command to them.

General Logan said that he could boast of a lifelong friendship with the Arlington priest, and that he had another reason for affinity to Arlington because his uncle was at one time a curate in the Arlington parish.

Freedom, Our Greatest Heritage
As was appropriate, the speaker dwelt at some length on the Puritans and what they stood for. The greatest of our heritages, freedom, originated in this country from them and their charter of free and democratic government.

Freedom, political and religious, has always been a passion with the American people. Our wars have all been fought in freedom's name. The Revolution was fought to free ourselves from the bondage of an oppressive master. The war of 1812 was fought for the freedom of the seas. The Civil War was waged primarily to free the black man, since this country has no place for

FORMER PASTORS AT FIRST PARISH CHURCH SERVICE

The Old Home Day service at the First Parish church last Sunday morning was of especial interest as two former pastors of the church spoke, and there were in the congregation many former members who returned for this occasion as well as many of the older ones who have not been out for a number of years.

Dr. Augustus M. Lord, who was minister of the church from 1887 to 1890 and who since that time has been minister of the First Church, Providence, spoke of the days when he was in Arlington and of the changes in the town since then. Through association, he said, he could reach back to the first minister of the church, Rev. Samuel Cooke as he had known Rev. Frederick H. Hedge, minister from 1829 to 1835, and Mr. Hedge had known Mr. Cooke.

Dr. Lord recalled how, when he lived in Arlington he could walk from his home on Jason street to the Heights all the way across the fields. Then the population of the town was six thousand, now it is thirty-six thousand. The old names, he said, persist in the First Parish. In San Francisco the membership of a church is said to change entirely in ten years. Here, after forty years, the names of those on the committee were familiar to him.

Dr. Frederic Gill, pastor emeritus, who succeeded Dr. Lord as minister of the church, spoke as a visitor returning and remarked the changes in the church. The old home sheds, that were there in 1890, were gone and there were changes in the interior of the church—the organ had been moved from the back to the front of the church, the galleries had been taken down and there were changes in the vestry. However, the beauty of the spire remained. The slender tapering lines of the spire make it, he said, one of the finest in the country. He expressed the hope that the members of the church would always cherish it.

Rev. John Nicol Mark, pastor of the church, spoke of its present and future. It is the duty of the church, he said, to go out after the thousands who have no church home and who are receiving no systematic training in those moral and religious sanctions necessary to true living and upon which our modern institutions rest. As minister of the First Parish, he was not seeking to wean people from other churches but he was deeply concerned about the millions who never entered a church door and who

REBEKAHS ENTERTAIN BETHEL LODGE AND ENCAMPMENT

Barbara Hatch and Kenneth Slade in "Sitting on the Doorstep"

Bethel Lodge of Odd Fellows and Arlington Encampment were the guests Monday evening of Ida F. Butler Lodge of Rebekahs at an entertainment given in Odd Fellows Hall. The youthful dancers, Barbara Hatch and Kenneth Slade of the Elwot Studio delighted the audience with their sketch, "Sitting on the Doorstep" and "Hello Baby". Miss Martin of Cambridge gave several most enjoyable readings.

The play, "It Can't Be Done", was the feature of the evening. Parts in it were taken by Mrs. John Kelly, Miss Bernice Walkinshaw, Miss Lillian Fletcher and Norman Walkinshaw. In the chorus they were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Needham, Miss Mattie Wilson and Mrs. Ralph J. Kinney with Mrs. Charles Spaulding as pianist. Mrs. Kinney gave a specialty number during the play, "Tain't No Sin". Community singing and the serving of refreshments brought the evening to a close.

Mrs. Kelly was general chairman of the evening and Mrs. Robert F. Walkinshaw was in charge of the play. They were assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Slade and Mrs. Decker.

MEMORIAL WEEK IMPORTANT FOR FOREIGN WAR VETERANS

Memorial Day week has been a period of great importance for Arlington Post, 1775, Veterans of Foreign Wars. First, attendance at the Universalist Church with a patriotic and inspiring sermon by the pastor, Rev. Rubens R. Hadley. The service was attended by the veterans in uniform and auxiliary, dressed in white, under the leadership of Mrs. Hill. All assembled at G. A. R. Hall, from there marching to the church for the morning service.

Tuesday, May 27th, the post held its charter meeting with 61 members enrolled, including veterans of the Civil, Spanish-American and World Wars, Philippine Insurrection and Boxer Rebellion. There were present, chief of Staff Lewis R. Sullivan and County Commander, William Hennessy of Woburn, representing the Department Officers; also several commanders and comrades of neighboring posts. Immediately following a business meeting Commander Sylvester A. Keaney threw the meeting open and Eudor Ruler Daniel Barry presented a magnificent flag to the post, a gift of Arlington Lodge of Elks. Following this, an American and Post flags were given the post by one of its members. As an added surprise Comrade Joseph A. Scott presented the Commander a gavel, made from the keel of the famous old ship Constitution. The gavel carries with it more than a relic of the old ship. It revives the old buddy comradeship of Veterans Scott and Keaney who fought together in China in the Boxer uprising in 1900.

Friday, May 30th, the post made its first public appearance in a Memorial Day parade, although most of the comrades had previously been members of other Veterans' organizations. Arlington Post 1775, V. F. W. makes it possible for veterans, not eligible to membership in the G. A. R. or American Legion to belong to a veteran organization. The hope of every member is to be of service to the veterans of all wars and make our post a credit to the community.

Division 22, A. O. H. held its annual memorial service for deceased members at St. Agnes church last Sunday morning. The mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Desmond of St. Clement's church, Somerville.

CHARTER CAVALCADE WILL PASS THROUGH ARLINGTON

The "Charter Cavalcade" which will consist of three $2000 floats with a mounted escort and band in magnificent costumes, will come through Arlington Saturday morning, June 14th, at about ten o'clock. It will come from Medford out Medford street, turn down Broadway and proceed through Somerville to Boston.

Before leaving Arlington, however, it is expected that there will be some exercises at the Soldiers' Monument. Chairman Charles A. Hardy of the local Tercentenary Committee is not yet sure just what form these exercises will take, but it is understood that the portable bandstand which was used this week on Spy Pond Field will be taken to the junction of Broadway and Massachusetts avenue. The committee and the Board of Selectmen will be stationed here to welcome the cavalcade.

There will also be a speaker, not yet named, who will explain the significance of each of the three floats to the assembled people. The Tercentenary Committee has also procured an abundance of flags which will be distributed to the Boy Scouts and others who will form about the monument.

The Cavalcade will proceed over a route which will be approximately the course of the old trail that was used by the Puritan founders of the Bay Colony between Salem and Boston, and probably following a trail previously in use by the Indians. The modern streets of today have deviated from the original course, but over part of the way the streets are believed to be identical with the original route.

The "Charter Cavalcade" is to be a feature of the Salem celebration on June 12th when the reproduced ship "Arbella" is to sail into Salem Harbor, manned with crew and passengers, and Governor Winthrop impersonated who will bring ashore the great charter of 1629 that formed the background for the government not only of the Bay Colony but of much of all America. The Cavalcade is to glorify that event and its message, and carry on the story to other cities and towns.

The Cavalcade will present a unit of significance and attractiveness calculated to impress 500,000 spectators assembled in ten communities along the 26-mile route with the importance of the event thus honored, namely the coming of the germ of free government and American independence—the key-note of the entire Tercentenary celebration. There will be three great floats on which trained men and women will enact the respective events typified. The first will be titled "Granting of the Great Charter".

ROBBINS LIBRARY EXHIBITS INTERESTING OLD BOOKS

An interesting exhibit has been arranged in the small reference room at the Robbins Library. Among the old books is an account of the expenses of West Cambridge for the year 1810-11. Through the glass of the case where these treasures have been placed may be easily read the fact that the school expenses for that year were $692.47. Intriguing to the children of today are the "The History of the Dirty Child", a facsimile of "Slovenly Peter" and the Round Hand copies for the use of the schools.

Equally fascinating are "Marmaduke Multiply", in which crudely colored pictures illustrate the rhymes, "4 x 8 are 32, I could dance as well as you", and "4 x 7 are 28, Come with me and see me skate", and the "Children's Pleasure Book". These, together with a doll dressed in the fashions of many decades ago, were loaned by Miss Edith A. Whittemore of the library staff. A copy of the ever interesting New England Primer, a portrait of William Plumer, United States Senator, and a jointed wooden doll, bought in Washington in 1822, were loaned by Miss M. E. Plumer of 18 Wellington street.

While the exhibit was put in place especially for Old Home Week, it will be continued two or three weeks longer.

Old Home Week, Arlington's chief contribution to the Tercentenary Celebration, was formally opened Sunday evening with a civic and patriotic meeting in Robbins Memorial Town Hall. The building's exterior was beautifully decorated with the red, white and blue of the national colors and with the light blue and dark blue and buff, reminiscent of colonial days. This is the first time since its erection that there has been an occasion of sufficient importance to warrant the decoration of the building and the Tercentenary Committee made the most of the occasion. On the interior the same colors together with the Tercentenary banners were effectively used, while on the stage were palms and a replica of the "Arbella", loaned by the First Church in Watertown.

Charles A. Hardy, chairman of the Tercentenary Committee, presided at the meeting. On the platform were Chairman Arthur P. Wyman and W. O. Hauser of the Board of Selectmen, Rev. Warren N. Bixby, rector of the Church of Our Saviour, Rev. Arthur G. Lyon of the Park Avenue Congregational church, Dr. Richards, representing the Orthodox Congregational, and Rev. John Nicol Mark of the First Parish, while in the hall were the pastors of other churches of the town.

Raymond Eaton sang a group of baritone solos with Miss E. Lillian Evans accompanying him. These included "The Phantom Legion" by Stevens, and "Hymn to America" by Gulean. In response to enthusiastic applause he sang "The Trumpeter" by Dr. Bixby.

Mr. Hardy introduced the speaker, James Jackson Walsh, president of Tercentenary, Inc., as the man who, as head of the group that had the vision and the faith several years ago to plan the Tercentenary, had given more of his time, thought and income to the work than any other. It must, Mr. Hardy said, be a pleasure to him to see the results of his work throughout the state.

The Great Migration
Mr. Walsh said that it was apparent that Arlington needed no Paul Revere to awaken her to the importance of the Tercentenary. It was, he added, a pleasure to find one chairman who pronounced correctly the word, tercentenary. Too many seemed to be avaricious and preferred to put the accent on the "ten".

"The Great Migration" was his topic which would, he said, be a reminder of what his audience held in common with him. The drama of the Puritan is too often lost in the glow of the romance of the Pilgrim. The Puritan has been called bigoted and intolerant and their best defenders are neither of Puritan blood nor background. If he were a Puritan, he said, he would not apologize. They were in this great state on their own business and a part of that business was to keep disputants out. Moreover, the seventeenth century had no high name for tolerance.

There had been given, he went on, two reasons for the Tercentenary—the first commemorative, the second to celebrate how far we have gotten away from the Puritans. We are celebrating the greatest event in history except the birth of Nazareth. The Puritans, next to the band that Moses led out of Egypt, were destined to exert the greatest influence on the world.

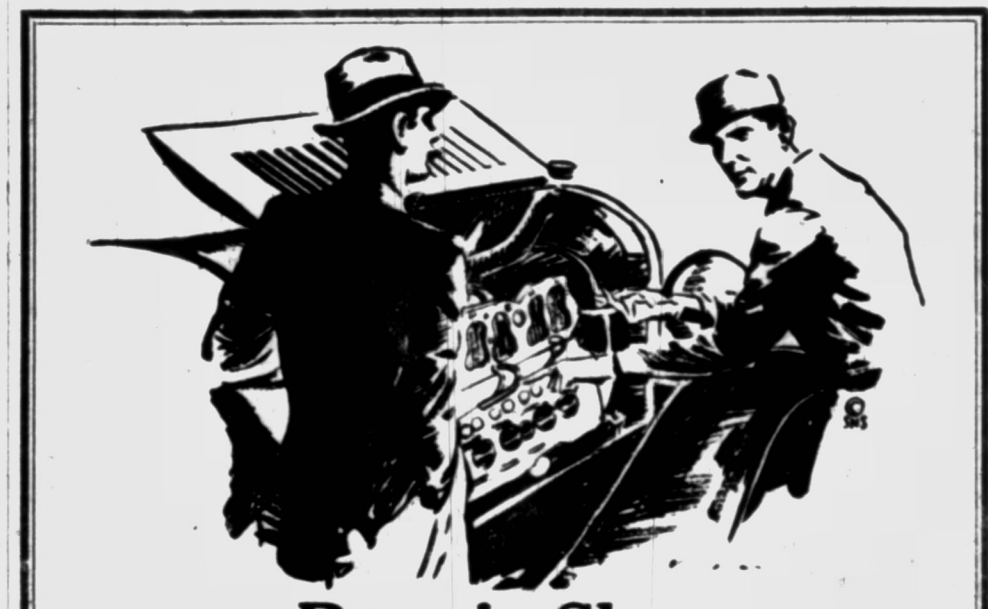

Massachusetts, he said, is more than the cradle of liberty; it is the nursery, the kindergarten, the fortress and the tabernacle of liberty. To "sell" Massachusetts to the rest of the nation he would tell of her great men, her poets, historians and philosophers. Many of these he mentioned, though of many he had not the time to speak. At any rate their names would serve only as a reminder to those who already knew them. The name of Arlington he told her citizens, will "never die as long as Denis McCarthy lives".

These treasures of the spirit, Mr. Walsh emphasized in his conclusion, have more meaning than the great buildings, the business, the saving deposits of the state.

The meeting closed with the singing of one verse of "America".

CHIEF OF POLICE URQUHART CLOSES STREET CARNIVAL

The street carnival which was occupying the Boston Elevated property at the corner of Massachusetts avenue and Tufts street for a few days last week was closed on Friday by order of Chief of Police Thomas O. D. Urquhart on the ground that some of the booths were running games of chance instead of games of skill. This carnival was not being run under the auspices of the local post of the American Legion as is supposed by some.

HAVE YOUR HOUSE PAINTED!

"A home beautiful!" That's what every taxpayer likes to have people say about his home. Painting is a laborious job—and a comparatively hard one. But it is costly only when not done right and in a way that will last.

Most people's idea of a paint job is any kind of paint put on in a way that will cover up the dark spots and make the home look a little better for a short time. That is the expensive way. A paint job that is done right with good paint by a good painter, is very cheap because it will last for a long time.

Such is the service that Charles R. Beattie of 36 Addison Street gives. Mr. Beattie has gone to a great deal of time, labor and expense to procure for himself the best quality paint. Paint that will look better, last longer, and weather better than all other kinds. After an exhaustive test and after trying all the paints now in use, Mr. Beattie chose Devco paints and products and has expressed himself as well satisfied. Not only is he satisfied himself, but the large number of people who have had Mr. Beattie work for them are more than satisfied.

Mr. Beattie has had many years' experience as a painter and does all kinds of painting, including interior decorating.

Telephone Mr. Beattie at Arlington 2589-M about having your house painted.

FELLSWAY RIDING SCHOOL IS AID TO REAL HEALTH

More than ever today, riding is coming into its own. Men and women who believed a few years ago that they would not dare to get on the back of a high-spirited horse, are now enthusiasts. And the reason why riding has become so popular in this section can be traced almost directly to the Fellsway Riding School of 202 Marble Street, Stoneham, Mass.

The Fellsway Riding School, which is modern and up-to-date in every way, has been in this location for three years. It has an outside ring and thirteen riding horses which are reliable, safe and well trained. No horse lover could fail to like and to appreciate the fine horses which the Fellsway Riding School has, nor fail to enjoy riding them. Horses are also boarded and sold.

Mr. A. J. Graley, proprietor of the Fellsway Riding School, was born and raised on a ranch in Wyoming and is an experienced horseman, having ridden in show rings all over the country. Polo and jumping are taught either in private or in classes. Special attention is given to children and beginners.

For people who do not get enough exercise, there is nothing better than horseback riding. Within a few days you will notice the difference if you take it up. There is a good deal of satisfaction, too, in being able to ride correctly and in showing up well when on horseback.

For further information, telephone Stoneham 1197.

Do not expect gratitude; but when you find it, be grateful.

one of the easiest and finest ways to get the most out of the fleeting late spring and summer months is to make your porch more livable, cooler and shadier by having awnings placed on your windows exposed to the direct glare of the sun-light when shaded by attractive awnings allow sufficient light to enter, but mellow it, imbue it with color and tend to make the interior of the house more cheerful. Make your home, your porch a haven of refuge this summer, make it a cozy nook where you can seek comfort and relaxation from heat.

Furthermore, awnings provide more than a modicum of privacy for the front porch or front rooms. They permit unobstructed view from within but because of their shade and the angle at which they are hung, the porch or room and its occupants do not stand out on exhibition to the passing public.

And when you think about awnings, as you will this summer, think of Silva Bros. Awning Company, 1101 Cambridge Street, Cambridge, Mass., telephone University 6927. They make awnings to fit any porch or window, and have materials to suit any fancy.
